

Wage Subsidy Scheme

What is the Wage Subsidy Scheme?

The Wage Subsidy Scheme is a financial incentive of up to $1,650 (GST inclusive) that is available to qualifying businesses to give eligible jobseekers an opportunity to demonstrate their suitability for ongoing employment.

The Wage Subsidy Scheme is not intended for current employees of the business.

The job must be for at least eight hours per week, over 13 weeks.

Is my business eligible?

Your business is eligible for the Wage Subsidy Scheme if it:

- has an Australian Business Number
- has not previously received a wage subsidy for the same job
- has not recently retrenched or reduced the number of workers, or be proposing to do so
- is not of a type of character that would bring the wage subsidy or the Commonwealth Government into disrepute
- is not receiving another government wage subsidy for the same worker or position.

What types of jobs can I offer?

The job can be full-time, part-time or casual, and needs to:

- be covered by a legal industrial instrument that complies with minimum standards established under Commonwealth, State or Territory Law
- meet the employment standards for the position (for example, is suitable work and pays at least the national award wage).

Apprenticeships and traineeships may also be eligible.

The job cannot displace an existing employee, be a commission based, subcontracting or self-employment position, or work for an immediate family member.

Who can I hire?

To be eligible for the Wage Subsidy Scheme the jobseeker you employ must be registered with a Disability Employment Services (DES) provider and be of legal working age.

Other eligibility requirements are based on a jobseeker's circumstances. Talk to your local employment services provider for more information.

How do I apply?

To apply for the Wage Subsidy Scheme contact your local DES provider to discuss the process.
